Special thanks to M. Charnock and L. Davies for their participation.
WARNING: All the following are potentially dangerous techniques and should only be practiced under the supervision of a qualified CKD instructor.

A: 2 attackers are seen grabbing victim's (Mr A.) lapel.

B: Victim pokes their eyes either with a Choi Kwang De (CKD) curled finger strike or alternatively by using two fingers only.

C: Attackers let go and first one is finished off with a CKD Front-Kick.

D: Second attacker is seen receiving a CKD Twisting Kick to his torso. Mr A. is now in a position to observe if further action is required.
